FALCON

Mike,

Welp. Im gonna take whole page!

Taryan baby - weve had great time the last few months - and were gonna keep on having it! Youve been so sweet - all the while I was so grumpy when I was trying out for everything. I think weve gotten along pretty well dont you? Yup!

Weve had our problems (parents) and our fun (galavanting around the hallowed halls of Glendale and South Street) Our picnics have really been wild (next time dont set me adrift huh??)

You make a great mother even if you do overbake your kids! (And the ones you dont overbake turn out retarded!)

I know Ive been difficult - but Mike I hope Ive added 1/4 what you've added to my year - to yours! (Confusing)

How's the ole telephone closet?

And I dont steal tulips!!

ARZAN YELL!

Ah ee ee eo oo ch ch

All my love,

Kathy

(Scottie 68-70)

PS- Little fair party dumb!!

Mike,
It was nice to have you in Civics.
The most boring class of the year. But some how we got through. Keep going to that great church.
Good Luck

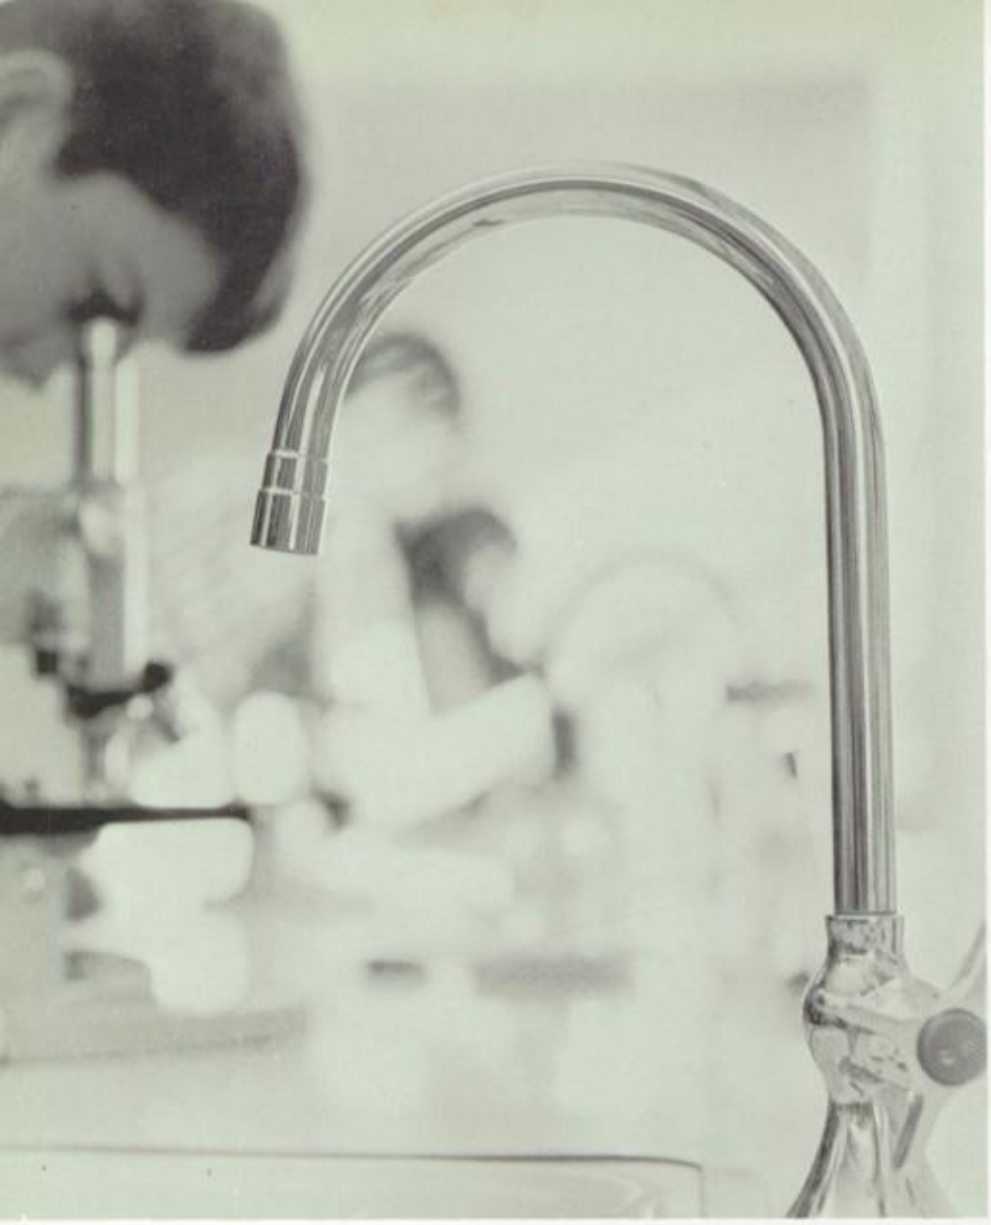
Students, faculty establish tradition

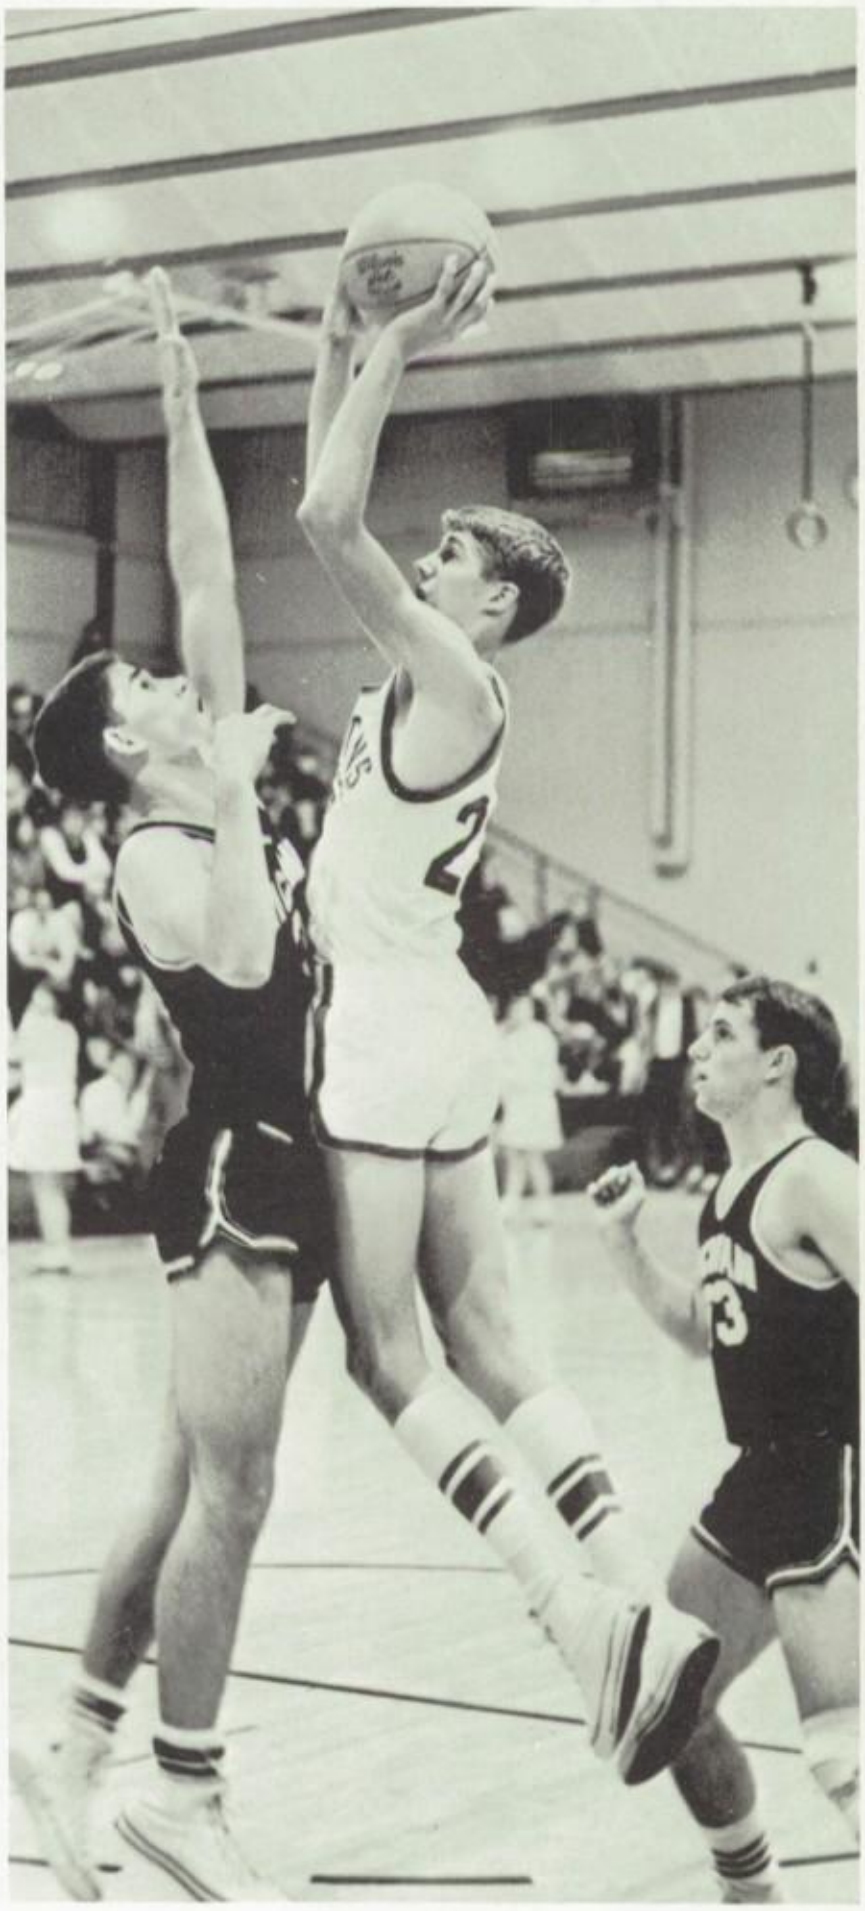
One look through any window on the Glendale High School campus will draw you into Falcon Country. It's a land alive with enthusiastic students and teachers who have set a long list of achievements and traditions for years to come.

Take a look at the year 1967-68; a year of achievement in academics, a year of productive leadership in extra-curricular activities, a year of spirit inspired by sports and displayed in everyday activities, and a year of growth making Glendale the largest of Springfield's schools.

Assuming an important role in the community and striving to produce responsible and educated citizens, Glendale sponsored clubs encouraging participation in government through Tri Hi Y and Hi Y, teaching through FTA's cadet teaching program, occupations through the Co-operative Occupational Education program, and service through the Key and Anchor clubs.

Take a look through any window—a look at the leader of high schools—a look at Glendale.





B.O.G.

Pupils show pride

Projects initiated by the student body to display American pride and loyalty resulted in Operation BOG and Teen Patriot Week.

Initially inspired by sports, the wave of spirit spread throughout Glendale, instilling within every student a sense of pride and the willingness to display that pride to others.

Although some students went to other schools due to boundary changes, the year 1967-68 was a year of growth for Glendale. With a total of 1961 students enrolled, Glendale became the largest of Springfield's schools.

Come on and follow us. Take a LOOK THROUGH ANY WINDOW . . .

CURRICULUM

Board of Education
Plays vital role

Believing that teachers, members of the administration, and school boards have a common goal—that of providing the best possible schools for children and youth of the district—the School Board combined the qualities of integrity, perseverance, faith, vision, and initiative to govern the school district. A board of six, each a resident tax payer of the district, retained and exercised full legislative authority and control of schools.

Responsibilities included preparing and publishing policies covering their organization, general policies, procedures, and major plans. Their primary goal was to achieve harmony within the board, the school staff, the community, and the youth.

Deriving their authority from the people of Missouri, the board held regular meetings twice a month that were open to the public. Delegated to Dr. Willard J. Graff, Superintendent of Schools, was the executive and administrative authority of the Springfield District R-12 School Board.

Serving all school personnel and also the community, PTA, School Board, and others, is the Administrative Service Center.

Administration
Directs education

Devoting his time and energy, Dr. Willard J. Graff, Superintendent of Springfield Public Schools, is totally committed to education. His major concern is to contribute what he can to provide the quality of education needed by Springfield youth. Because of his outstanding work and leadership, Dr. Graff has received such honors as The American Educators Medal awarded by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge and an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree conferred by Drury College. He was elected to the office of president of the Missouri State Teacher's Association.

In May, Dr. Graff was awarded the Citation for Distinguished Service to Education by the University of Missouri at the Education Day Banquet.

Working with Dr. Graff on matters concerning the basic needs of education were the members of the Administrative Board. Their responsibilities included maintaining order in the school system by supervising building improvements, teacher selection, co-ordinating personnel services, and supervising business transactions.

Dr. Willard J. Graff
Superintendent of Schools

ADMINISTRATIVE BOARD—front row, Mr. David Berryman, Director Vocational-Technical Industrial Education; Dr. Roy Litle, Assistant Superintendent for Elementary Education; Dr. A. M. Alexander, Assistant Superintendent for Secondary Education; Dr. Willard Graff, Superintendent of Schools; Dr. Joe Kuklenski, Deputy Superintendent; Mrs. Hazel Ponder, Director of Personnel Services; Dr. Howard Heidbrink, Director of Curriculum Development, back row—Mr. Kenneth W. Kraft, Director of Business Services; Mr. Joe Grant, Director of Building Services; Mr. John Sweeney, Director of Pupil Services; Dr. Howard Lowe, Director of Research and Federal Programs; Mr. Nova Nash, Administrative Assistant for Public Information—Printing.

Applauding the Glendale Patriotic assembly which climaxed Teen Patriot Week Oct. 16-20, Dr. Graff, flanked by Marine Mike Jackson, stands with the student body.

Deputy Superintendent

Dr. A. M. Alexander
Assistant Superintendent for Secondary Education

Visiting GHS, Dr. Alexander views the Home Economics Christmas display with Cheri Alexander.

Always interested in GHS life, Dr. Alexander carries on an animated conversation with Bruce Herndon and his family.

Visits with pupils

Engaged in the activities of the Deputy Superintendent, Dr. Joe Kuklenski combined the necessary leadership and abilities with a friendly smile and occasional visits to the Glendale student body. His position, added to the administration staff for the first time this year, included the responsibilities of co-ordinating and directing the educational programs of the school district. He also assisted the selection of staff members and supervised the development of long range planning of the educational program.

Holding the position of Assistant Superintendent of Secondary Education, Dr. A. M. Alexander worked in a close relationship with members of the School Board, Dr. Graff, and Dr. Kuklenski. His schedule included, among administrative duties, visits to the various high schools to work with the principals on important issues involving student activities and regulations.

Visiting at Glendale throughout the year offers Dr. Joe Kuklenski, Deputy Superintendent, a chance to enter the routine life of high school students.

Meeting in business sessions to plan and discuss problems were Dr. A. C. Brewer, city-wide Science Co-ordinator; Mr. James Ford, Glendale principal; Dr. A. M. Alexander, Assistant Superintendent for Secondary Education; Mr. Bill Gist, Hillcrest principal; Dr. Joe Kuklenski, Deputy Superintendent; Mr. Ralph Hamilton, Central principal; and Mr. Fred Balden, Parkview principal.

Surrounded by a group of students after school, Mr. King discusses an experiment with biology students while Mrs. Mahan talks about attendance. By mingling with students, Mr. King and Mrs. Mahan fulfill an important part of their duties as administrative assistants.

Harold E. Deiker
Assistant Principal

Concerned with the educational problems present at Glendale, Principal James E. Ford and Assistant Principal Harold Deiker have focused their attention for the last five years on the welfare of GHS students.

Serving not only as an administrator but as a friend, Mr. Ford worked closely with the student body and the activities of the Parent-Teacher Association to insure a successful year.

Assisting Mr. Ford, serving as an advisor in student activities and student life, and working on assemblies occupied the time of Mr. Deiker.

Involved in the duties of administrative assistants, Mrs. Dee Mahan and Mr. Russell King supervised the activities of girls and boys, while assisting the teachers, counselors and administration with problems of guidance and student activities.

Lois Brown, junior, waits patiently as Mr. Deiker carries on a discussion with a parent during Open House.

Intent on slicing his cake, Mr. Ford celebrates his birthday at a surprise party given by the journalism class.

Counselors

Advise classes

Guiding each generation of students through four years of high school, the administrative assistants took the responsibility of counseling one class from entrance to graduation. Working diligently throughout the year, each counselor gave special attention, advice, and encouragement to each of the members in the class he sponsored.

Acquiring the youngest set of Falcons with the procedures of high school life was freshman counselor Mr. Wilber Brill.

Guiding the actions and future plans of second year students was the task of sophomore counselor Miss Beverly Black.

Advising juniors on schedules and college selections, Mrs. Mildred Green prepared students for their last year in high school.

Working in close relationship with seniors, Mr. Paul Moore gave individual attention to specific interests and aided in college selection.

Discussing a common problem, Mrs. Griffin, business teacher, stops to talk with freshman counselor, Mr. Brill.

Stirs intellect

Glendale's English department stressed, through the use of recordings and films, the importance of speaking, writing, reading, listening, and critical thinking as a basis for English study.

Freshman students studied correct grammar usage and explored various works of great literature. The writings of Shakespeare and Sophocles were read as preparation for further study in Elizabethan and classical drama. Film strips and recordings relating to poets, plays, and topics under classroom discussion supplemented the teachers in presenting both interesting and stimulating lessons.

Continuing the study of literary periods and authors, sophomore classes covered the works of John Steinbeck, Pearl S. Buck, Joseph Conrad, and Charlotte Bronte.

Inspires thought

The study of American authors was the basis for study in junior English classes. A few of the authors included were Emerson, Holmes, Poe, Twain, Longfellow, Melville, Bryant, Crane, and Hemingway.

Both in the classroom and with outside reading, American literature was covered by study of philosophy, narrative writing, poetry, and drama.

After meeting the necessary requirements in freshman, sophomore, and junior English classes, seniors who wanted to further their studies enrolled in either English composition—4C or English Literature—4L.

Offered as a trial class for advanced seniors, Miss Ruth Cunningham directed 25 seniors through the reading of Macbeth, Hamlet, "A Passage to India," and writings by Cervantes, Molliere, Tolstoy, Dostoevsky, and Chekhov.

Dramatics, Speech

Teach expression

Through presentation of readers' theaters, improvisations, pantomimes, duet acting, debates, and extemporaneous speaking, students enrolled in speech classes learned to express themselves clearly and fluently.

Beginning speech students studied the fundamentals of oratory and interpretation in preparation for the spring Neophyte Tournament.

Traveling to North Kansas City, Neosho, the University of Missouri, and the University of Arkansas, speakers from the Speech Department entered competition in debate and individual competition, bringing home high ratings and several trophies.

Production of the Junior-Senior Talent Assembly, "A Day at Court" was the last project of Mrs. Jerrie Hemingway before she left on maternity leave in November. Replacing her, Mrs. Ann Brundridge guided the dramatics students in creating the sets and lighting for the annual Christmas, Easter, Exchange, and Freshman-Sophomore Talent assemblies.

In the classroom students participated in pantomime, improvisations, readers' theaters, and play production.

Journalism

Increases staff

Under the direction of Miss Norma Malone, second year journalism students worked diligently to produce the 1968 Falcon and 27 editions of the Quill.

To aid in maintaining the high standards and First Class Ratings by the National Scholastic Press Association of the 1966-67 Falcon and Quill, all members of the staff attended summer clinics in Detroit, Michigan; Lubbock, Texas; and Athens, Ohio.

Steve Johnson, photography editor, won an outstanding photographer award at the publications workshop which he attended.

Added to the staff of the Quill was the position of photography editor and added to the Falcon staff were the positions of copy, layout, class, and index editor.

While learning the basic skills in writing and newspaper production, Journalism 1 students submitted articles to the newspaper in addition to writing and editing two editions of the Quill. Further classroom study included improved techniques in yearbook production, ad lay-outs, and typography. J-1 students prepared newsbeats, ads, and listened to speakers in preparation for further study.

Foreign Languages

Import cultures

Classes in Spanish, French, and Latin offered comprehension and fluency to students interested in the countries beyond our borders.

By writing reports, reading novels, and speaking in the French language, students studied the culture and observed the holidays and traditions of France and the French people.

Exploring the Spanish speaking countries, students became involved in games, songs, films, records, plays and skits performed in Spanish. A group of advanced Spanish students added music to the Spanish room for Open House, attired in peasant dresses and native costumes.

A study of grammar and Roman influence was emphasized in Latin classes. Advanced Latin students read works such as the Iliad and the Aeneid in medieval Latin.

Changing "Whistle While You Work," to "Sing While You Learn," Sandie Edwards and Steve Ellis complete an assignment for French 1.

Applied Arts

Fine Arts

Develop creativity

Included in the activities of Art students were various periods of figure drawing, art history study, lettering, water color, oil painting, creative design, printmaking, and sculpturing.

Students designed imitation stained glass window sections, presented the annual hall art gallery, participated in the art history tournament in May, and toured various art shows and galleries including the Nelson Art Gallery in Kansas City.

Through a class in applied arts, students worked on creative designs for practical purposes. Attention was placed on three-dimensional objects, advanced oil paintings, and the construction of jewelry.

Miss Linda Allen joined the art department and instructed four classes of Art I. The classes traced the development of art from the primitive period to that of today.

Driver Education, Music

Require practice

Driver education teacher Mr. Lechner administers a vision test to Joe Graddy on an eye-testing machine purchased last year.

Combining on-the-road driving with classroom instruction and operation of simulated automobile units, sophomores gained a basic knowledge of traffic laws and practical driving experience.

As part of the classroom work, a course in first aid was required.

Members of the band, orchestra, choirs, and Freedom Singers performed throughout the year in school assemblies, parades, music festivals, and concerts.

Traveling to Tulsa-Hale Nov. 11, the band appeared in the football half time ceremonies there. At home they presented assemblies to local junior high schools, participated in pep assemblies and entered the music festival.

On Oct. 25, the Junior-Senior Choir and Freedom Singers sang in concert at Miller, Greenfield, and Lockwood. The choir and orchestra presented the Winter Concert Nov. 30.

Social Studies

Expands horizons

With a study of citizenship, Glendale freshmen became acquainted with life and the role of American people as related to democracy and American policies. Film documentaries, classroom projects, reports, panel discussions, and debates provided the supplementary material to stimulate interest in the American way of life.

Sophomores continued the program of social studies through the world history course. Through a study of world intellectual, social, economic, and political affairs, sophomores supplemented classroom work with panel reports and research papers.

In a study of American history, juniors concentrated on the history of early America and the people and problems of modern America. Films related important events in the lives of great American men and women.

Social Studies

Upholds heritage

During the junior and senior years, one-semester classes in sociology and psychology were offered to students. In these classes students examined the minds and motivating factors of individuals and groups.

Other elective courses in social studies included American Heritage and American problems. Students explored the nature of the American democratic society and the problems it faces.

Emphasis was placed on critical thinking and developing an interest in active participation in politics, foreign aid, and foreign policies.

In the study of economics and world geography, seniors were subjected to a study of problems concerning the economics of a nation and the geographic features of the world.

Probes unknown

Biology, earth science, chemistry, and physics composed the field of scientific study. Through examination of plant and animal life and a knowledge of the properties of modern science, students prepared for further study in medicine, engineering, chemistry, and geology.

As a means of evaluation for the texts being used in Glendale science classrooms, a series of films were taken by the University of Missouri for the Midcontinental Regional Education Laboratory during the months of October and December. Of the six Missouri teachers chosen to be observed, three of them were from Springfield and two of them, Mr. Arthur Elbert and Miss Margaret Eallin, were from Glendale.

April 4, 5, and 6 Glendale hosted the Ninth Annual Science Fair under the direction of Mr. William Hansen. Competing were students from the Southwest District's junior and senior high schools.

Mathematics

Sharpens minds

Recognizing the importance of correct usage and understanding of numbers and their properties, the mathematics department prepared students for work in careers or college by providing basic courses in math.

After completion of regular math classes, algebra, geometry, and math analysis, students interested in depth studies of math attended a class in calculus at Drury College.

Instruction was offered in solving basic number problems and understanding number relationships for use in daily life and in classroom work.

Mr. Hansen, Glendale science teacher, taught a slide-rule class before school on Tuesday mornings for interested students.

March 12 was the date of the National Mathematics Test open to all students who were interested in math scholarships.

Business Education

Prepares leaders

By taking courses in bookkeeping, typing, business English, business law, clerical practice, salesmanship, and shorthand, students prepared for future vocations in various fields of business.

Modern equipment was provided by the Business Education department to aid the students in learning business practices. A mimeograph machine, duplicating machine, electric and manual typewriters, a calculating machine, a dictaphone, and a multiple listening unit were used by students in daily classroom work.

The Administrative Management Society spelling test was given to members of Business Education classes and certificates were awarded to students with perfect scores.

Industrial Arts courses presented the students with practical applications of skills useful in future occupations. Boys worked on designs and construction of objects from wood, metal, and other materials.

During the year finished products were displayed in the halls and showcases.

On-the-job training combined with classroom work in the program of Cooperative Occupational Education.

With emphasis placed on good employer-employee relations, the annual Employer-Employee banquet, held Jan. 25, honored the employers of student workers.

Highlighting the year was the state C.O.E. convention held in March, which gave the students the opportunity of competing with others for honors in the areas of parliamentary procedure, essay, business and vocational spelling, sales demonstration, distribution, job interviews, and the selection of the Distributive Education student of the year.

A total of 111 students represented Glendale this year at the Vocational Technical School. Under the instruction of 19 faculty members, the students received specialized training in such courses as: auto mechanics, electronics, agriculture, data processing, auto repair, and machines.

With a complete enrollment of 543 students, the school offered 15 courses, including a new course for television repair. A new wing was added which allowed the addition of another welding shop and a mechanics shop.

The students selected one training area as a part of their regular curriculum on a half-day basis. The purpose of the Vocational Technical program is to aid the students in the pursuit of specialized occupations.

The Vocational Technical School sponsors a course in vocational agriculture. The boys from all four public high schools enrolled in this course belong to the Springfield chapter of Future Farmers of America.

The purpose of Future Farmers of America was to develop rural leadership and create an interest in farming and agriculture business while maintaining the status of a local, state, and national association.

In addition to the regular courses in agriculture offered at the Vo Tech school, a course in farm mechanics is a part of the program.

Through study in basic Home Economics 1, 2, and 3 courses, girls learned from practical experience techniques for use in personal and family life.

Instruction in sewing, cooking, interior design and nutrition offered students fundamental knowledge in homemaking practices.

Four one-semester courses in child care, family living, interior design, and supervised food allowed specialized study in particular fields of interest.

The annual tea honored mothers in December with refreshments and a display of Christmas gifts and decorative ideas created by members of home economics classes.

Throughout the year practical application of the techniques acquired in classroom study was stressed by student preparation of meals, menus, clothing, and plans for room designs in the various classes.

Engrossed in the tasks of sewing, these members of Home Economics benefit from the assistance of Mrs. Rimmer.

Physical Education

Stresses fitness

With a variety of activities, the physical education teachers sought to provide the best conditioning for each student.

Taking part in relays, softball, whiffleball, gymnastics, volleyball, tininkling, and routines with Indian clubs, hoola hoops, and wands, girls developed muscle coordination and grace.

Boys gym classes involved activities geared toward excelling in the spring physical fitness tests. These activities included touch football, track, wrestling, tumbling, basketball, and softball.

Alternating with periods of active gym and outdoor exercise were four-week periods of classroom health study for juniors. Offered to girls, Mrs. Doris Bush instructed a trial course in family survival along with a series of films concerning family life that was presented to all physical education classes.

Non-Certified Personnel

Maintain order

Maintaining its efficient operation, Glendale's non-certified personnel consists of 23 cooks, seven custodians, and six secretaries.

Preparing nutritious lunches for all the students and teachers kept the cooks busy, while custodians were concerned with keeping the school building clean and in smooth running order.

Mrs. Frances Deck, secretary to Mr. Ford, Mrs. Connie Sade, secretary to Mr. Deiker, and Miss Judy Deulen and Mrs. Sherri Fishel took care of school records and correspondence.

In the attendance office, Mrs. Marjorie Krebs and Mrs. Hazel Smith kept records of student attendance and transportation.

Together these people behind the scenes worked to unify the activities of Glendale students and teachers while maintaining the order and cleanliness of the building. They kept in close contact with students and offered assistance.

SPORTS

Varsity Gridmen

Compile 3-7 slate

The Glendale Falcons finished their 1967 season with a 3-7 record. The GHS eleven played their toughest schedule in the five years of gridiron competition.

Three top teams from Missouri, Arkansas, and Oklahoma were among the opponents on the Falcons' hardened roster. Glendale's three wins came against Parkview, Fulton, and Hillcrest. By dropping Parkview and Hillcrest the varsity Birds captured third in the conference action with a 2-2 record.

Poplar Bluff, Springdale, Ark., and Tulsa Hale were three of the tough elevens to stymie GHS. Springfield Central, top rated in Missouri, was also victorious over the battling Birds.

Glendale's defense was led by seniors Bob Allred, Jim Guinn, Jerry Bader, and Bill Davidson. The offensive squad was sparked by juniors Bill Whitaker, Pat Crocker, Roger Stocker, and Kenny Pearce, as the young Falcon team battled against seasoned foes.

Glendale's Junior Varsity football team, coached by Mr. Bob Price and Mr. Sonny Stringer, ended an almost perfect two year season. The young Birds compiled a 13-1 overall record after their lone loss came in their last game of the season to Central's Bullpups.

The JV's captured the "B" team Ozark Conference championship title for the second year in a row. The champions had an average of 5 points defensively.

Under the coaching leadership of Mr. Bill Bayless, Glendale's Freshman team posted a 4-2 fall season record.

With the largest number of freshman boys participating in prep football, the Baby Birds defeated such teams as Ava, Willard, Central, and Parkview. The freshman teams of Hillcrest and Parkview handed the Birds their only losses.

Varsity Basketball

Ties 64-65 record

Losing only one game in non-conference action, Glendale's varsity Falcons compiled an 18-7 record. Coach Jack Robert's squad tied a Glendale record established in the 1964-65 season for most wins in a single year.

Battling in many close decisions, the Birds fell victim to Hillcrest and Central twice by one point in conference action. Two rolling victories over PHS and splitting with Joplin netted the Falcons a tie for third in Ozark Conference outings. The victory over Parkview was the first by a Springfield squad in five years.

Glendale entered the Blue-Gold Tournament at Greenwood and captured first place in the Gold Division. GHS dropped Sparta, Buffalo, Lockwood, and Bolivar in gaining the honors.

Post-season competition in the Class L Regionals at Neosho saw the Glendale Falcons upset Central of Springfield, avenging two earlier losses, after ousting Joplin to capture second place. In the championship game, GHS fell to Parkview in a tight scoring race. Four seniors and seven juniors composed the varsity squad with Hoot White and Larry Floyd managing the players.

Limit opposition

Closing the season with an 11-10 mark, Glendale's junior varsity squad completed a successful year. The squad scored at a clip of 56.8 points per game and limited the opposition to less than 52 points per game.

The junior varsity was paced by scoring leaders Mike McNabb, Larry Buzbee, and Doug Moellering. Gary Grove and Gary Hay led the playmakers from inside and outside. Chris Fuldner and strong reservists provided the JV cagers with added punch.

The freshman "A" team posted a winning mark of 7-6 over the long season. In Ozark Conference, battling Springfield squads, the baby Birds evened their record at 3-3.

Greg Hlavaty and Alan Pickering paced the scorers for the young Birds.

The "B" freshman squad lost only two decisions in their eight game outing. The losses came at the hands of intra-city foes Central and Hillcrest. Dual victories over Parkview's Vikes and the Willard Tigers led GHS wins. A late season decision over Hillcrest closed the "B" squad season.

Track

Scores in relays

Beginning the spring season with a series of indoor track meets, Glendale's thinclads produced several impressive victories. Coach Bill Bayless had eight returning lettermen to complete his 32-man track roster.

The cindermen competed with Springfield squads along with Joplin in Ozark conference and played at open meets. Area squads faced the flying Falcons and, later in the season, met GHS in regional and state competition.

With underclassman support, Glendale established a strong track team. After losing much of its strength to graduates, the Falcons rebuilt the field event competition.

The cindermen found their greatest depth in relay teams, sprints, and medley action.

Golf, Tennis

Compete for titles

Glendale's only returning letterman, senior Eric Ambler, helped lead Glendale's golf team to another successful season. Bob Boyer, a member of last year's squad was aided by transfer letterman David Moots. Bill Daniels also added depth to the squad.

Practice began in March and the linksters first match was with Parkview. The GHS team competed against all Springfield Public High Schools; in the SMS Relays; in addition to the Ozark Conference matches at Joplin and Springfield.

Glendale's golf team challenged the faculty to a Student-Faculty match to finish the season.

Glendale's three returning tennis lettermen, Betty Anderson, Mark Newport, and Steve Newport, helped the GHS team finish another outstanding year.

Practicing since March, the netters opened their season against Central. They had two Ozark Conference tilts, one at Joplin and one in Springfield and competed in the SMS relays.

The linksters season was concluded with the MSHAA District and State Tournaments.

Wrestling

Becomes varsity

Glendale's wrestling team, under the supervision of Coach Bob Price, opened its season by downing Willow Springs 41-13. The grapplers proved victorious over Joplin 29-23 and the Jefferson City Jays 22-19.

In Ozark Conference league play squads from Parkview, Central, and Hillcrest defeated Glendale's grapplers. The losses left GHS in the cellar half of the conference race.

The largest win for the first-year grapplers came over the Willow Springs Bears. The first year matmen carried the regular six meets, and the Ozark Conference post-season matches.

This being the first year that wrestling has been incorporated in the school system as a regular varsity sport, GHS proved successful with a .500 record. Glendale had seventeen lettermen and nine provisional letters were awarded to underclass enthusiasts.

In the district meet, held at Parkview, Falcon grapplers entered twelve men. Of those twelve Dan Virnig, Billy Reed, Mike McKinney, and Jim Seaton qualified for the state meet held at Kansas City. Ruskin was the host for the meet.

Baseball, Girls' Intramurals

Face competition

Glendale's baseball team prepared for and faced tough competition in their '68 hardball season. The GHS squad was strengthened by five returning lettermen: Fred Steury, Scott Heerman, Eddie Pyatt, Barry Poindexter, and Craig Bothwell. The team, having finished second in Ozark Conference play during the 1967 season, again completed a very impressive hardball season.

In spring training Coach Don Provance had a large number of capable juniors and seniors turn out. Joe and Gary Warren, Bob Selle and others helped to strengthen the '68 team.

The GHS Girls' Intramurals, under the direction of Mrs. Jane Rogers, participated in both city-wide and intra-school competition during the 1967-68 program year.

Girls were able to participate in volleyball, basketball, bowling, table tennis, and tennis. Some members of the program also took part in fall and winter basketball and volleyball sports days at Hillcrest, Parkview, and also at GHS.

While Charlie George and Mark Newport get ready to bring down the rebound, Eric Ambler tries to block Fred Steury's attempt at scoring.

Intramurals

Enlarge program

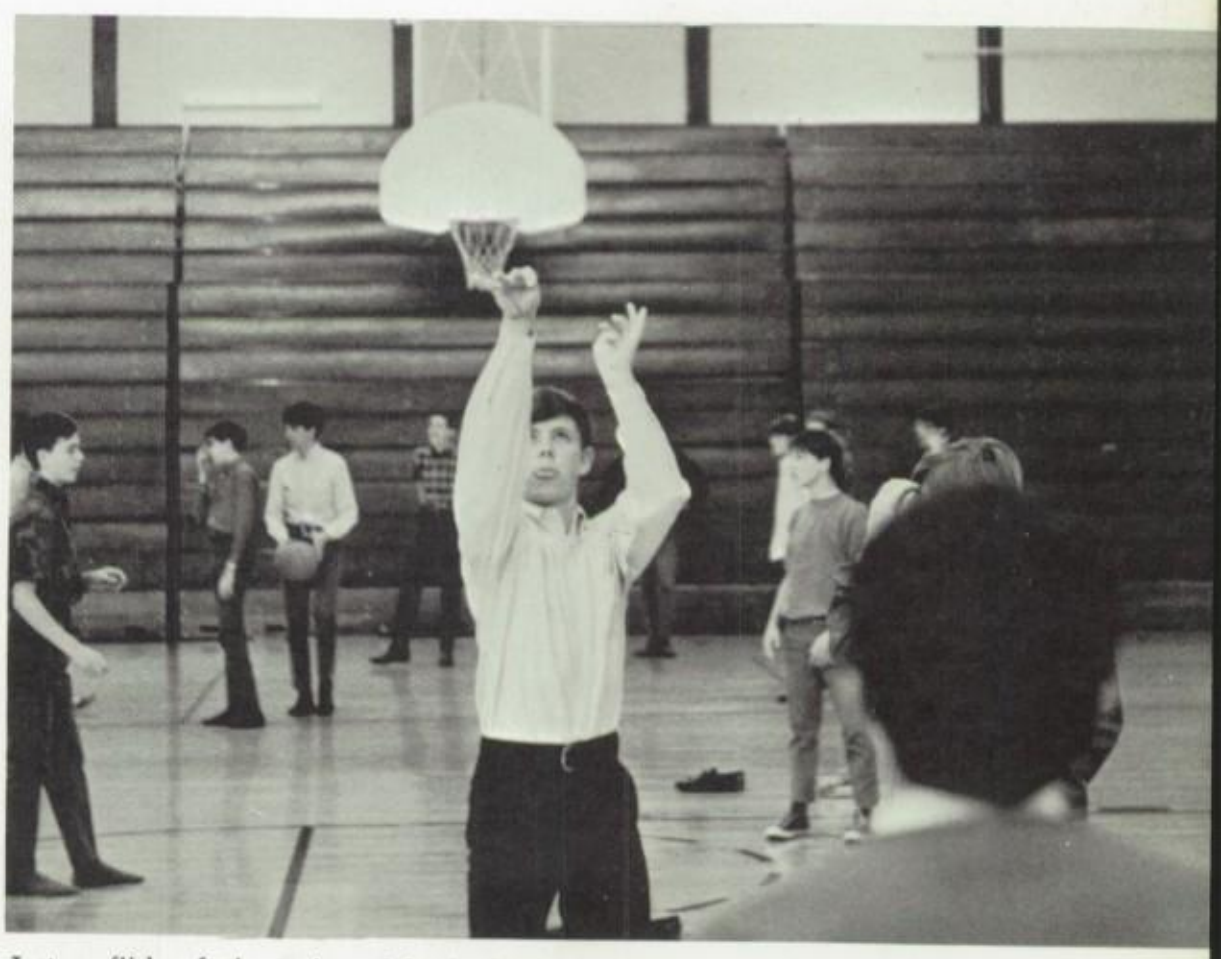
Glendale's Boys' Intramurals have finished their second year of competitive play. The program, under the direction of Mr. Gerald Hickey, encompassed several fields of athletic endeavor.

Competition was provided in free-throw shooting, golf, soccer, table tennis, volleyball, swimming, cross-country, and basketball. The program was enlarged from its original size after involving a record number of boys.

Wrestling was dropped from intramurals and added to the interscholastic schedule for the first year. New additions to the Glendale program were golf, swimming, and free-throw shooting.

Boys participating in each of the events came from all four of the GHS classes and were allowed to take an active part in any and all of the sports offered.

The largest of Glendale sports in intramurals was the basketball competition. Fall and spring tournaments were held for the junior-senior and freshman-sophomore divisions. A large turnout was seen in field soccer which began practice in early March.



Just a flick of the wrist might land the free throw championship for Tom Cook.

Student Council

Sparks activities

Class officers, cabinet and committee members, and homeroom representatives combined their efforts and enthusiasm during the year initiating and supporting all-school activities.

As a part of school spirit competition, members of Student Council encouraged competition through a "Keep Glendale Beautiful" campaign and through enthusiasm displayed at football and basketball games.

Members of student council attended monthly meetings, and intra-city and district conventions. They planned the Freshman Mixer Sept. 14, the annual Falcon Festival Sept. 29, two soc hops, the Hall of Fame dance, and the distribution of student directories.

Promoting the attendance of basketball games, the Representative Assembly led by Student Body President Bill Hanawalt, journeyed to Sedalia and West Plains, Dec. 16 and Jan. 12 respectively.

Taking time out from the many duties of an office worker, Virginia Firestone, Jacquetta Chambers, and Sue King catch up on their homework.

Student Workers, Safety Council

Perform services

Assisting the secretaries in the main office and the attendance office, along with the counselors and administrative assistants, student workers ran errands, delivered messages, and kept files in order.

Each period students worked in the two offices, served as gym assistants, aided individual teachers, helped the librarians, and assisted the cooks.

Second hour representatives, led by President Ann Will, formed the Safety Council. Members attended monthly meetings after school and state conventions. December 2, three GHS students traveled to Jefferson City to attend the ninth annual Youth Traffic Safety Convention, kicking off Youth Traffic Safety Week December 9-15. During this week a special committee prepared posters and announcements stressing traffic safety using the theme "Soul Man."

February 14 an assembly emphasized the importance of safety in the school, Springfield, and in Missouri.

French Club, Spanish Club

Observe traditions

Student productions, special speakers, parties, and field trips were a few of the activities that comprised the calendar for Glendale's French and Spanish Clubs.

Featured at a November meeting, the French Club members presented a Talent Show composed of a Can-Can line, a "Little Red Riding Hood" skit, and songs sung in French. Completing the year, the members of the French Club traveled to Kansas City to observe French art and French architecture at Nelson Art Gallery and other places throughout the city.

The Spanish Club held a Christmas party December 19, at which time Cathy Schneider was crowned "Pinata Princess" and broke the traditional pinata. Regular meetings were held at a local Mexican restaurant. In April, a fiesta-day market place was set up complete with booths, music, dancing, and a bullfight. Climaxing the year a picnic was held at Lake Springfield in May.

Latin Club, Art Club

Canvass culture

The celebration of Saturnalia in December, a Roman celebration of Christmas, combined a covered dish supper with skits and Christmas carols for members of the Latin Club. Featured speakers for the club included Glendale's foreign exchange student, Silmara de Andrade Figueiredo, and Father Harry Schlit.

Dressed in costumes depicting characters and paintings studied in the art classes, members of the Art Club attended the annual Halloween Costume Ball and Banquet in October. Highlighting the year for Art Club members was the plane trip to St. Louis in May, where they toured the St. Louis Art Gallery and Forest Park.

Other activities for the club included tours of the visual art departments of SMS and Drury, competition in the District Art Convention hosted by Stockton High School, and hall displays of art work throughout the year.

Stimulate minds

Chess Club members emphasized the application of chess rules while concerned with social contact for their meetings. Twice a month meetings were held when members played chess and a business meeting was scheduled for once a month. During the month of January a dinner meeting was held at the home of Becky Langston, chess club member.

Sponsored by Mrs. June Fender and Miss Mary O'Brien, Future Nurses of America toured Burge Hospital in December, St. John's Hospital in February, and the Red Cross Center in the spring.

During November FNA members visited the Cerebral Palsy Center, prepared tray favors, and heard a speaker from the Air Force program of nursing.

Ending the year Future Nurses of America planned a St. Patrick's Day party for patients living at Grand Acres and concluded their calendar with the annual banquet.

Develop abilities

Offered for the first time to Glendale girls this year, Anchor Club is a youth project of Pilot Club, open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors scholastically qualified and approved by Mrs. Dee Mahan, sponsor. Anchor Club is an active organization maintaining a school and community service program and developing leadership ability in teenage girls. Similar in purpose and activities of Key Club, members worked on various community service projects, Christmas baskets, and services valuable to Glendale.

Meeting once a month for discussions and special activities, the Library Club spent an active year. In December, members attended a play, Life With Father. In honor of Valentine's Day, a covered box supper was held with a discussion on favorite books afterward.

For Christmas, 150 children's books were collected and presented to the Children's Home.

Band

Receives honors

Directed by drum majorette Betty Anderson and drum major Ronnie Mink, members of the band and the twirlers completed an active year of performances and recognition.

During the months of September, October, and November the band performed at Varsity football halftime ceremonies and at home basketball games, pep assemblies, the Hi Day and Homecoming assemblies, and in Christmas parades at Springfield and Mansfield.

Traveling to Tulsa Hale Nov. 11, the band performed during the halftime homecoming ceremonies, toured the city of Tulsa, Oral Roberts University, the Mohawk Park, and Gilcress Museum.

In April and May they entered competition at both the Springfield and Missouri State Music Festival, where they achieved high ratings in solo and ensemble work.

During the month of June, the band will travel to Texas for performances at the International Lion's Club Convention in Dallas, where they represent the state of Missouri, and at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio.

Orchestra

Tunes up for '68

Presented to the student body and the public, the annual Winter Concert combined the performance of the choirs and the orchestra in November. Music presentations and activities for the year included the "Hallelujah Chorus" in the Christmas assembly, guest performances at Pershing and Kickapoo Junior High Schools in January and April, music for the Class Day assembly, Baccalaureate and Commencement services, music for the spring musical production "Camelot," and performances at the district and state music festival.

Orchestra member Jim Nimmo was honored with an award from the Springfield Youth Talent Audition. He was a featured soloist in the Springfield Youth Symphony Concert March 21 and took part in their tour March 22.

Featured during Open House, the String Ensemble performed a number of musical arrangements. Besides special appearances the String Ensemble took part in spring music contests.

Scotties

Accent enthusiasm

Summer practice sessions, early morning drills and endurance marching, all combined to present the precision steps of the Glengarry Scots, Glendale's marching drum corps. Led by majorette, Nancy DeRuyter, the Scotties performed during school assemblies, at the Freshman Mixer, during football halftime ceremonies, Christmas parades, and at the National Softball Tournament the week of September 15.

The Scotties journeyed to Tulsa Hale November 10-11 for their homecoming festivities and then to Harrison, Arkansas, to march in the Christmas parade.

Upon arriving home, the Scotties held a chili supper the night of November 21. Climaxing the year, the Band-Scottie Concert was held February 22 at which time Nancy DeRuyter performed the Sword Dance followed by the entire group doing the Scottish Delight and the War Fling.

Concentrating on her task of playing the bagpipes, senior Scottie Debi Chambers performs during an assembly.

GAA, Lettermen's Club

Promote Athletics

Athletic activities were the major concern to members of GAA and Lettermen clubs. To bring sports-minded girls of GHS together, a coke-kickoff was held in September acquainting them with the Girl's Athletic Association.

During the months of October and December, club members planned both Halloween and Christmas parties. Highlighting the month of January, a mother-daughter sports day was planned with both mothers and daughters participating in competition volleyball games.

In March, GAA sponsored a Junior High Sports Day, the annual week-end campout in April, and the banquet announcing awards and the new officers in May.

Members of the Letterman's Club, composed of Glendale's students outstanding in the area of sports, received letters at banquets held at the close of each season.

Freshman class officers, Mike Willhoit, president; Brenda Buff, secretary; and Nancy Ebe, vice-president; faced their first year at Glendale with enthusiasm.

Freshmen

Face GHS life

Completing their first year at Glendale, members of the freshman class have left their mark on achievements, club participation, and in spirit as a united and active class. With the guidance of their counselor Mr. Wilbur Brill, they will use the knowledge acquired and the experience gained to make them a class of excellence in 1971.

Welcoming the newest members into Falcon Country, the Scotties, Cabinet, Cheerleaders, and other GHS students combined their efforts to present the Freshman Mixer September 14. Pep Club, Band, Freshman sports, as well as clubs keyed to specific interests encouraged their participation.

Taken into the routine of high school life, the freshman class elected officers, held class meetings and participated in Student Council making known their spirit and enthusiasm.

Sing-Out
Arouses patriotism

Concerned with moral rearmament, 80 freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors united to form Glendale Sing-Out last fall. In conjunction with the city-wide Sing-Out group composed of all interested Springfield high school students, GHS members participated in the ceremonies of the National Softball Tournament, the National Sing-Out Concert entitled "Up With People," Springfield on Display, the Brentwood Christmas Tree Lighting Service, and in school assemblies.

Practices were held weekly after school and it was necessary to belong to the GHS Sing-Out to perform in the city-wide group.

Chosen from Glendale's Sing-Out, Sharon Weatherly was selected to appear with members of the National Sing-Out group consisting of 450 members from the nation's high schools and colleges.

Practicing after school, Kay Bridger, Dana Fisher, and Marilyn Parker work on routines for sing-out numbers.

Math Club
Computes interest

For the purpose of acquainting students at Glendale with mathematical conceptions, a Math Club was formed three years ago. Continuing the project, Mr. Gerald Bonham sponsored the club, its meetings, and activities during the year. Faculty and student members of the Math Club alike presented programs with mathematical topics for GHS students.

The club took a field trip to the University of Missouri at Rolla Jan. 27, where they visited the computer-science center and the nuclear-reactor equipment.

Math Club members were encouraged to participate in the annual science fair, held at GHS in April, by entering projects and research work concerning mathematics and science subjects.

Math Club president, Eric Ambler, along with the 26 members, stimulated the interest of the club by inviting non-member students to attend meetings, thus aiding in the growth, interest, and enthusiasm for the club.

During the Math Club field trip to the University of Missouri at Rolla, Bruce Caplan listens intently to an assistant at the Nuclear Reactive Facilities discussing a radiation measuring machine.

FHA

Spurs creativity

A fashion show sponsored by Town and County, a window display for Open House, a Halloween party, and a program on interior design filled the calendar for members of Future Homemakers of America during the months of October, November, and January.

Crowned FHA queen, Rita Eggers and her attendants, Janice Westfall and Donna Newman, reigned over the second annual Christmas Formal December 16, and mothers were honored February 15 at the annual Mother-Daughter banquet.

Members of FHA filled the week of April 7-12 with daily activities in observance of FHA Week. Gifts were given to teachers, a faculty coffee was hosted, a city-wide banquet was held, and a breakfast was attended by the future homemakers before school.

Sending letters and boxes of homemade candy and cookies to Allen Bills, a former GHS graduate now stationed in Vietnam, was the service project undertaken by FHA members.

Science Club

Studies UFO's

Formed to give Glendale students interested in the field of science a chance to take part in group activities, the Glendale Science Club sponsored by Mr. Jose Florez took on a schedule of varied activities.

Meetings throughout the year covered topics of handwriting analysis, unidentified flying objects, and cave rescue. Club members toured the tower, weather bureau, and flight service at the Springfield Municipal Airport and the chemical division of Hoffman Taff, a Springfield company.

Under the direction of Mr. William Hansen, members of the Science Club hosted the April 4-6 Science Fair, in the Glendale gymnasium. Club members planned a mixer for the Southwest Missouri region exhibitors during their participation in the fair.

Pep Club

Spells out cheers

A prerequisite for cheerleader try-outs in the spring, Pep Club consisted of 113 members under the sponsorship of Mrs. Gloria Ray. Effective during the year was a system of points awarded to each girl on the basis of her attendance at all weekly meetings, Varsity and Junior-Varsity football and basketball games, and her assistance in making signs and banners.

At both pep assemblies and ball games, the Pep Club sat as a group often using flash cards to spell out words during cheers.

Megaphones were awarded to club members, with a high number of points, during the football season. Ending the year's activities, another banquet honored girls with high points during both the football and basketball season.

Varied expressions of enthusiasm shown by the Pep Club illustrate different feelings during a Hillcrest basketball game.

Succeed in spirit

Completion of their second year at Glendale, marked a mid-point in the lives of high school sophomores. With only two years left before graduation, sophomores were urged by counselor Miss Beverly Black to make college and vocation choices while they anticipated their coming junior year.

Along with the ranking of tenth grade students, came the opportunity to join various clubs. Anchor Club, Tri-Hi-Y, Key Club, FBLA, J-V Cheerleaders, Letterman's Club, and junior-varsity teams in sports encouraged sophomore membership. Open to sophomore girls, try-outs for the Glengarry Scots were held in the spring.

Required of all sophomore students, a Driver's Education program helped them learn rules and regulations of driving procedures needed to obtain driver's licenses. Included was a course of first aid and a study of traffic laws.

Sophomore officers Bill Boxer, vice president; Felicia Brown, secretary; and Mike McNabb, president, step-up class activities and status of tenth grade students.

Key Club

Serves community

A club promoting leadership through service, Key Club sponsored Open House, College Night, and the annual Student Leader Banquet in February to honor club presidents and high scholastic achievers.

Encouraging spirit and enthusiasm for school football and basketball games, the Key Club printed and sold ribbons to the student body throughout the year. During the Christmas season, members of the service organization delivered Christmas baskets for clubs.

Chosen at the convention last April in Hot Springs, Arkansas, Craig Lowther represented Glendale as the Governor for Missouri-Arkansas Key Clubs.

Sponsors fair

Sponsoring the Social Science Fair, May 2-3 was the major project of the History Club, Gamma Eta Chi, for the year. Sponsors of the fair and committees of History Club members decided on the criteria for awards and awarded first, second, and third prizes to the best entries in the fair.

Speaking to members of the club, Charlene Warres presented a talk on her trip to Austria as an AFS student; Mr. Jerry Sandidge spoke on archaeology; and Mr. Michael Rubuka, Drury teacher of Russian, presented a program on his travels in Russia.

Throughout the year sweatshirts bearing the Greek letters Gamma Eta Chi, were sold to club members. A picnic in May concluded the year's activities.

History Club officers Ann Will, Ann Henslee, and Leanne Modarell lead discussion on the annual Social Studies Fair.

FTA

Provides training

Sponsoring four cadet teachers, members of Future Teachers of America sent seniors Carol Barrow, John Martin, Jeanette McKee, and Christine Dewan to schools throughout Springfield to assist teachers and gain experience in the teaching profession.

During the month of December, Christmas candy was sent to retired teachers. Mrs. Ellen Rhoten, Jarrett Junior High School teacher presented a program and slides on her European trip at an afternoon club meeting. FTA members served at school and club banquets during the year and traveled to St. Louis in the spring to tour a school for the handicapped. A banquet and a picnic ended the year's activities.

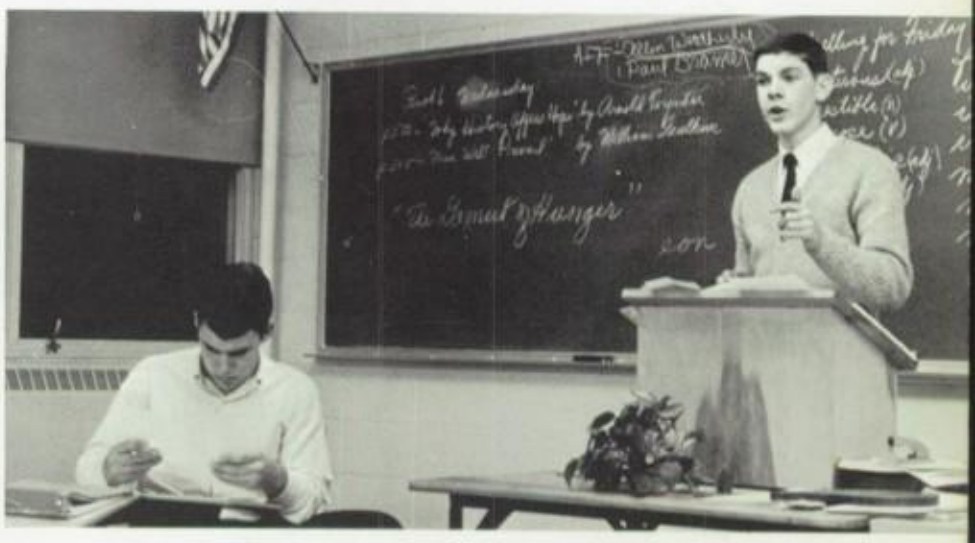
GHS debaters Carol Appelquist and Chris Scruggs work hard in preparation for one of the many debate tournaments in which they participated throughout the year.



Speech and Debate

States pros, cons

Glendale speech and debate department hosted and participated in novice and regulation tournaments throughout the year. Participating in tournament rounds at Central High School, the University of Arkansas, MU lab, Hillcrest, Monett, William Chrisman, Parkview, Neosho, and NFL competition in Liberty, Glendale students Greg Chinn, Bruce Caplan, Chris Scruggs, Carol Applequist, Brad Fisher, and Mark Yarnell earned first, second and third place trophies and awards.

Hosted at GHS, a novice tournament started the year for amateur speakers. Following were tournaments at Parkview, Hillcrest, Central, Joplin, and Talequah, Okla. In January Glendale speech students hosted a tournament for 23 entries.

Sophomore Choir

Cultivates voices

Presented at the November orchestra-choir concert, the sophomore choir was the basic group from which members were taken to participate in various school assemblies. In December they composed the group of carolers in the "Little Match Girl" Christmas assembly and in January they provided the music for the Freshman-Sophomore Talent assembly which had a Western theme.

Members of the choir performed with the Glendale and city-wide Sing-Out groups, the Freedom Singers, and combined with the juniors to sing in Baccalaureate ceremonies as the 1968-69 junior-senior choir. Members of the sophomore choir also participated in the spring musical Camelot.

Greg Vernon introduces Benny Weatherford for a solo backed by other sophomore choir members.

Initiate JJJ's

Reaching the distinction of being a junior brought about new upper-classman status and the determination to make the graduating class of 1969 the best. The election of class officers, becoming Varsity cheerleaders, and Scotties, advancement to Varsity activities, participating in Junior-Senior Choir, Madrigal, Cabinet, and Student Council all combined to keep juniors active, enthusiastic, and eager for their senior year to come.

Throughout the year, the junior class worked as a group to boost the pride and spirit at Glendale and school activities. Organized in December, the Jolly Junior Janitors staged a clean-up date for the campus and displayed posters encouraging students to keep Glendale beautiful.

Heading the Jolly Junior Janitor campaign, junior officers, president Robert Appleby, secretary Kay Bridger, and vice-president Dorelen Luce, discuss tackling the junk yard as their next clean-up project.

With a valiant stretch, Jana McCurdy attempts to send the volleyball over the net in one of the weekly games at the YMCA as teammate Susan Masters comes to her aid.

Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y

Govern Missouri

Highlighting the year for members of Tri Hi Y was the annual Spring Youth and Government program held in Jefferson City. From Glendale, Christy Chapman served as Sergeant-at-Arms in the House and Lynn McCurdy acted as Lieutenant-Governor. Representing the Hi Y, John Fowler served as Chairman of the Motor Vehicle Committee. Other members of the club traveled to Jefferson City as lawyers and judges in the Supreme Court, Senators, Representatives, reporters, and delegates-in-training.

Club activities included dinner meetings, a bunking party, participation in intra-city council meetings, caroling, and volleyball competition in the evenings. The May Mother-Daughter Banquet ended the year's activities.

Early morning risings even for a trip to Jefferson City don't do much for John Fowler, Christy Chapman, and Lynn McCurdy.

Choir, Madrigal

Harmonize talents

The junior-senior choir toured Miller, Greenfield, and Lockwood during October, kicking off a year of performances. They performed at the annual orchestra-choir concert in November, in Heer's Singing Tower and the Brentwood Christmas Tree Lighting Services, at school assemblies, and in Baccalaureate ceremonies.

Given the title of both Freedom Singers and Madrigal, 20 students combined their voices in performances at area grade school patriotic assembles, the United Nation's Day ceremonies at Evangel College, Founder's Day activities, during Teen Patriot Week at GHS, and in the spring district music contest.

J V Cheerleaders

Support pep club

Junior-Varsity cheerleaders worked throughout the year teaching the members of the Pep Club cheers used at school football and basketball games. They sold programs at Varsity games, prepared signs, and assisted members of the Varsity squad in arousing spirit at pep rallies and pep assemblies.

During August, junior varsity squad members attended a special clinic held at Central High School where they learned new cheers and chants. Practices were held daily during the summer months and twice a week during the school year.

Quill & Scroll

Lauds journalists

Concerned with increasing their knowledge of journalism techniques and careers, members of Quill and Scroll participated in field trips, business meetings, and banquets throughout the school year.

During both December and February, initiation services welcomed new members into the International Honorary Journalism Society.

Inter-club parties planned by Central in December and Parkview in February joined the city's four chapters of Quill and Scroll. During January, members of Glendale's Quill and Scroll chapter toured radio station KWTO.

Announcement of the 1968-69 staff for the Quill and the Falcon at the annual city-wide journalism banquet completed the calendar of events.

On a tour through KWTO, Steve Johnson, Valerie Barnes, and Alane Wetzel discuss journalism in radio with GHS graduate Bill Davis, now a writer for the station.

Dramatics

Displays talent

Before taking maternity leave in November, three months prior to the birth of her daughter in February, Mrs. Jerrie Hemingway directed the dramatics department in the production of the Thanksgiving and Junior-Senior Talent assemblies.

Replacing her, Mrs. Ann Brundridge aided Kathy Schien, assemblies commissioner, and dramatics students in planning the sets and dialogue for the Christmas, Exchange, Freshman-Sophomore Talent, Easter and Memories Assemblies.

Classroom work included the presentation of reader's theaters, one-act plays, and impromptu pantomimes.

The spring musical production Camelot, climaxed the year for dramatics students as they became part of the cast and aided in the costume, art, and publicity arrangements.

Seniors

Seek new status

Graduating in the year 1968, members of the senior class completed four years of working, learning, and growing within the halls and classrooms of Glendale.

Progressing from the ranks of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, members of the senior class accumulated memories and knowledge that will remain a part of them for the rest of their lives. Exams, assemblies, honors, friends, classrooms, and activities became a vital part of growth, and now remain behind them as they enter the adult world.

Throughout the history of Glendale, this class will be remembered for the traditions, achievements, and honors it left behind.

Cabinet

Offers leadership

Under the leadership of Bill Hanawalt, student body president, and Mark Newport, student body vice-president, the eleven members of Cabinet organized extra-curricular activities including the Freshman Mixer, Falcon Festival, the Hall of Fame, soc hops, distribution of student directories, and the School Spirit and Keep America Beautiful campaigns.

Formed to aid new students at Glendale, a Welcome Committee headed by Charles George, was added to the Cabinet. Its goal was to encourage new students to become a part of Glendale life, and to make them feel welcome. Other committees included art, social, elections, assemblies, public relations, finance, building and grounds committee and spirit.

In addition to these committees, there were positions of chaplain, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, and parliamentarian.

Up in the air over all the hard work taken to decorate the gym for the Falcon Festival, Helen Merin, art commissioner, and Ernie Mitchell, custodian, hang the final ornament.

Achievements

Honor excellence

Concerned with the importance of academic achievement, many Glendale students ranked high in lists of honors.

Four senior boys ranked as National Merit finalists and two senior girls received Letters of Commendation. Chosen as Glendale's Outstanding Teenagers were seniors Bill Hanawalt and Nancy DeRuyter. Receiving the Betty Crocker Homemaker's award at Glendale and entering state competition was senior Patty Correll.

During the summer of 1967, four seniors attended Girls' and Boys' State programs concerned with promoting the understanding of government procedures.

Ranking in the upper 20 percent of the senior class and scoring in the eightieth percentile on the Ohio Psychological Test awarded seven seniors Missouri Curators Awards and 52 other seniors Letters of Recognition.

Nominees for the National Council of Teachers of English were juniors Iris Treadway, Jean Sellars, and Nannette Linderer.

Also awarded to outstanding seniors were scholarships in the areas of fine arts, sports, and academics.

AFS

Helps unite world

Traveling abroad to represent Springfield, Charlene Warres spent three months in the country of Austria as Glendale's second American Field Service student. During the month of July, Charlene was a member of the Durk family in Innsburck. There she acquired three "sisters" ages nine, 12, and 16. Susie, her sixteen-year-old sister, left Austria in August, and as a result, Charlene traveled to Villach to live with the Suhclinger family. There she had a "sister", who was a former AFS student in Tennessee, and a "brother."

Staying in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith and Betty, a senior at Glendale, Silmara de Andrade Figueiredo, was Brazil's exchange student to America. Silmara plans to be an industrial chemist. After her year in America, she will take a six-month industrial training course before she goes to college.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Win spirit awards

Eight varsity cheerleaders attended a clinic in Dallas, Texas, in August bringing to GHS three second place ribbons in competition with other squads, two honorable mention ribbons, and a spirit stick.

With the help of the junior varsity cheerleaders, the varsity squad participated in pep assemblies leading the student body in cheers and pom pom routines with the band.

Meeting once a week to teach Pep Club members cheers and holding practices twice a week with sponsor Mrs. Sandra Wilcox kept the cheerleaders active. They were required to attend every varsity football and basketball game.

Highlighting the year was the clinic for prospective cheerleaders and the banquet awarding Pep Club certificates.

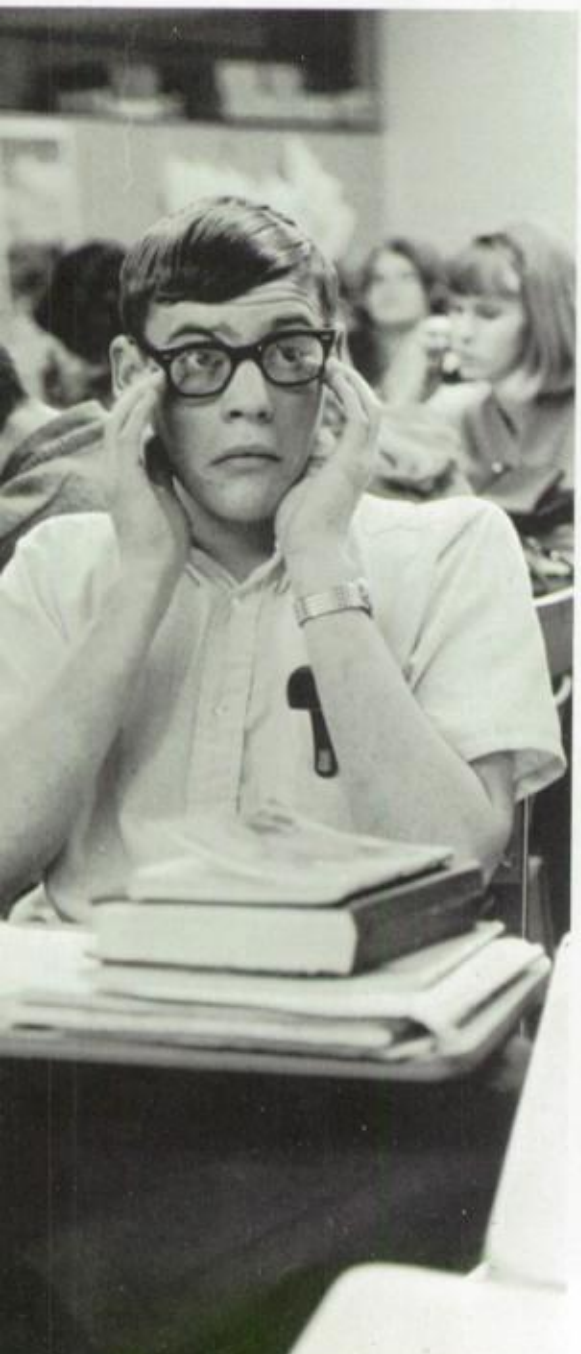
Cambridge Society

Explore classics



Composed of English 4-L students, the Cambridge Society completed an active year which included the adoption of a crest designed by member Linda Graham, monthly meetings, and the concluding dinner meeting at which all members dressed as their favorite character from English literature.

An address given by Charlene Warres about her three-month stay in Austria as a foreign exchange student and a skit on communication difficulties were presented at the club's first meeting. Other meetings included a Christmas Reader's Theater based on Peter Marshall's Christmas service, several skits, a panel which selected Betty Smith and Craig Lowther as the best Shakespearean students in January, and speakers in February and March.

As a club project, members of the Cambridge Society prepared a Christmas basket during the month of December.

COE Club

Enters competition

Sponsored by the Glendale Cooperative Occupational Education program, the COE Club took part in both Glendale and city-wide activities. To participate, students were required to join either VICA or DECA organizations sponsored at Glendale by Mr. Moon. Beginning the year a breakfast was held October 21. State delegates met October 23 in Columbia, a city-wide dance was scheduled for November, a Christmas basket was prepared in December, and the annual Employer-Employee Banquet was held January 25, which honored all the employers of COE students.

A highlight of the year was the State Leadership Conference March 18-19 in Columbia where COE members entered competition with other Missouri students in various areas of business, advertising, essays, and merchandise. A banquet in May completed the year's activities.

FBLA

Applies practice

Through study of the proper attitude, dress, and techniques for job application, Future Business Leaders of America learned basic phases of business practices.

Officers installed at the candlelight ceremonies planned the monthly meetings, the dress-right skit, and a field trip to a seminar at Hillcrest. The committees for the annual district and state conventions were selected and preliminary work for entries began in February.

Held at SMS, the district convention offered competition in local contest entries. The state convention was held in Kansas City during the month of May with winners advancing to competition in Washington, D.C. during June.

Tempers run wild in a GHS encounter with Central as seniors Susan Mathis, Tommy Klepper, and Mary Moye dispute the referee's call when the Falcons try for a basket to tie the game.

Exuberant Falcon fans Mike Wolkins and Howie Nichols carry Joe Warren off the court after the first GHS victory over Parkview.

In preparation for Baccalaureate and Graduation in June, seniors Jewell Windle and Floyd Wray are measured for caps and gowns by Sharon Weatherly, Sue Nevatt, and Jo Anna Simovic.

Hope

Though the sun

sets at night

all hope

is not lost

for even

as the sun sets

it will rise again

to the dawn

of a new day.

Acknowledgments

Express gratitude

No one but the yearbook staff will ever know all the eons of time spent on producing the 1968 Falcon. Even so it could never have been done without the many people who went out of their way to help us.

Our greatest thanks goes of course, to Miss Norma Malone, our journalism teacher, and Mrs. Virginia Woodring, the city-wide journalism coordinator. Both spent many hours trying to make the 1968 Falcon the best ever.

Also in order is our heartfelt gratitude to the faculty who were so patient when we took pictures, took students from their classes and gave us information for cutlines and copy. One teacher who gave us much of her time and talent was Miss Ruth Cunningham. With her help, one of her 4-L classes wrote headlines and a memorial poem for us.

When we worked some of those long nights after school and all day on Saturdays for deadlines, it was really great to have J-I kids like Sue Weatherman, Claudia Peebles, Angela Bresee, and Elaine Bishop-Jones there to give us their help and moral support.

It's been a great year. Thank you for letting us relive the school year 1967-68 again. We hope it is full of pleasant memories for you as it is for us. Editors Nancy Holmes, Nancy DeRuyter, Peggy Brooks, Steve Johnson, Jo Bass, Janine Mace, and Syd Sloan.

P.S. A great, big thanks to Steve Johnson for being everywhere at once.

Mike —

Well I decided since you had so many people signing your yearbook that you wouldn't have enough room for me to write big. Wasn't that nice??

It was really fun having you in my Biology class this year.

See ya

Ziggy Dwyer
